ProblemPoker.com and IstoppedGambling.com Announce Strategic Marketing

ARLINGTON, Va and STAMFORD, Cn - January 15, 2006 - Problempoker.com and IstoppedGambling.com today announce a strategic partnership that will combine ProblemPoker's gambling blocking software with IstoppedGambling's self-help books and brochures.

With the advent of online gambling, and in particular the dramatic increase in the number of online poker players, gaming companies have successfully brought the casino table to millions of homes. The goal of the joint venture is to remove that casino table by providing individuals who suffer from gambling addiction an innovative new way to stop gambling. Both companies believe that those who need help will benefit from the combination and meaningfully strengthen an individual's chance in addiction recovery. Under the strategic alliance, both companies will continue providing their signature product offerings, and simultaneously expand upon worldwide outreach efforts.

About ProblemPoker.com

ProblemPoker's innovative anti-gambling technology allows individuals to sign up for either a 6-month or 12-month gambling self-exclusion program. The program revolves around a powerful Internet filtering software package, which will guard a user's computer from any content offering online wagering activities.

About IstoppedGambling.com

I Stopped Gambling, LLC was officially formed in April 2004. The other main purpose for starting this company was to reach out and meet other individuals who wanted to stop gambling. Currently, IstoppedGambling is a portal of information for those affected with gambling addiction and relatives and friends of gambling addicts. The founder of IstoppedGambling.com believes there are many alternatives to aid in the recovery of a gambling addiction verses a twelve-step program.
